6 ways to create wealth through real estate.

Sure, real estate is a big investment. But remember it IS an investment. If you purchase a property strategically, it can help you generate income, tax savings and capital appreciation. Here are some proven ways to make money:

1. Use your home for a business. Not only does this save you the cost of renting a separate location for your business, it creates tax deductions for the portion of your home that you use for work. Even if you don't have your own business, you may be able to telecommute with your current employer.
2. Rent out a portion of your home. When buying, look for properties with basement suites, mother-in-law suites or, if you're willing to share living space, extra bathrooms. This can create substantial monthly revenue which can reduce or cover your mortgage payments.
3. Rent out storage or parking. If your garage or basement are usually empty, rent them out for storage space. Similarly, if your condo comes with a parking space you never use, rent it out. Be sure to check with condo regulations first, and have a contract so you're not liable for damage.
4. Rent to vacationers. If you travel for months at a time, offer your home as a vacation rental. This also works if you have a second often-unoccupied property in a desirable location. Again, make sure you have a contract that covers any potential risks.
5. Reduce taxes. When you purchase a revenue property with a relatively small down payment, you generate substantial tax deductions for mortgage interest, closing costs, property taxes and ongoing maintenance.
6. Leverage your equity. If you have substantial equity in your home, you have access to an affordable source of funding for other revenue-generating opportunities, like investments, starting your own business or upgrading your education.

Financial Freedom Tip of the Month

Are you an amateur or a professional?

In the world of investing, 90% of the people make 10% of the money, and 10% of the people make 90% of the money. When the markets crashed in 2007, all those trillions of dollars didn't just disappear. As usual, 90% of the money went to 10% of the investors. And those 10% were all professionals.

Whether you're a golfer, an actor or an investor, the only way to make the BIG money is to turn pro. When you're an amateur investor, all you can do is take the advice of so-called stock market experts. The only problem is, in many cases, they're actually sales people who make money from commissions, rather than generating returns from investments.

To become an investment professional, it's necessary to gain the knowledge yourself. You have to take courses, study companies and the market, and learn from successful investors. Once you can generate returns by relying on your own knowledge and judgment, you're a professional. Just like the professionals who were already getting out of the market in 2007. They didn't ride the market down like most people did. They sold high and only started buying again when stocks were extremely cheap.

The best thing you can do for your financial security is to turn pro. Learn everything you can about investing, stop following all the amateurs, and start making the BIG money!

THANK YOU!

Holistic Health Tip of the Month

The importance of acid and alkaline balance for health.

When your body's pH level is balanced between acid and alkaline, it can function normally and resist disease. Unfortunately, today's typical North American diet is far too acid-producing which leaves us with an unbalanced acidic pH level. This forces the body to borrow minerals—like calcium, sodium, potassium and magnesium—from vital organs and bones to neutralize the acid. Even mild acidosis can lead to:

- Cardiovascular damage
- Weight gain, obesity and diabetes
- Bladder and kidney conditions, including kidney stones
- Immune deficiency
- Premature aging
- Osteoporosis
- Joint pain, aching muscles and lactic acid buildup
- Low energy and chronic fatigue

Fortunately, acidosis is relatively easy to prevent. All you have to do is eat a healthy alkaline-rich diet. Reduce your consumption of acid-producing meat, eggs, dairy, processed white flour and sugar, alcoholic beverages, soft drinks and artificial sweeteners. Instead, eat more fresh organic fruits, vegetables and sea vegetables (like spirulina), as well as sprouted organic grains and seeds. Replace white sugars with black sugars like dates, maple syrup and molasses. Limit dairy intake to cheese and plain yogurt. Do this for thirty days and you'll be amazed with the results!

To determine your pH level, pick up some pH test strips from a health food store or pharmacy, and follow the instructions.
